State Working With Communities To Get Industry

FROM MATERIAL on my desk right now it is apparent the State of Illinois is working with Illinois communities in an effort to bring more industry into southern Illinois.

One item is a booklet called "Available Plant and Site Summary," prepared by the Division of Industrial Planning and Development.

Listed are Illinois communities, showing what towns have to offer specifically, in the way of acreage and buildings, whether the buildings are for sale or lease, and telling whether or not there is a rail siding.

Harrisburg and Eldorado are listed from Saline county.

THERE ALSO is a pamphlet, the outer cover of which says "Land of Lincoln Is Truly the Land of Industrial Opportunity: Ten Brief Reasons Why You Should Investigate ILLINOIS When You Plan Industrial Expansion or Factory Relocation." The ten reasons deal with Illinois' resources, agriculture, labor, education, market area, financial situation, climate, recreational facilities, taxes and transportation.

THEN THERE ARE the page ads running in the Wall Street Journal urging industry to come to Illinois, to contact the Industrial Planning and Development division at Springfield for information.

These page advertisements run expensive and towns mentioned in them are joining in helping pay for them.

The particular advertisement I have before me has the theme that transportation costs can be cut by locating in Illinois and Illinois is the most convenient location to serve all the nation.

MAYBE if we all work together and extend ourselves a bit more than just a little, we can get a ball rolling that will pull us out of the economic nosedive that could give us a pretty hard smash.

TWENTY BABY PIGS is the record of the Duroc sow at the Rex Cantrell home in Dorris Heights. The score of piglets came Tuesday morning and eighteen of them lived.

Now eighteen is a problem at mealtime, naturally; so Mrs. Cantrell divided them into two groups of nine. The sow gets one group in the daytime, the other group at nighttime.

And when the sow has one group, Mrs. Cantrell is caring for the other. She has a pig formula she feeds them in bottles when they are away from their mother.

Ridgway Boy Seriously Hurt In Auto Crash

Jerry Schmitt, 12, of Ridgway was seriously injured Wednesday when an auto driven by his cousin Lawrence E. Dailey, 17, of Alton, left the highway at high speed near Ridgway and struck a tree. Dailey was only slightly hurt.

Schmitt suffered leg, arm and head injuries and was taken to Ferrell hospital in Eldorado by an ambulance from the Cox funeral home at Ridgway. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Schmitt of near Ridgway.

According to Frank Crispin of Carbondale, an auxiliary state policeman, in a report to State Patrolman Adolph Sweat, the auto driven by Dailey was doing an estimated 100 miles per hour when it left the highway near the REA substation two miles south of Ridgway on Route 1. Crispin was chasing the car for excessive speed and was an eye witness to the accident.

The auto, a 1957 Chevrolet, was totally demolished. It was owned by Claude Drone of RFD 1, Ridgway, and was reportedly loaned to Dailey by Mr. Drone's daughter. The Drones and the Dailey family, parents of Lawrence, had left Tuesday night for Florida.

Dailey was issued a ticket for excessive speed by State Patrolman Sweat.

House Passes Township Tax Multiplier Measure

Bill Aimed at Increasing Local Assessments

SPRINGFIELD (UP)—The administration's township multiplier bill aimed at boosting local tax assessments to provide more money for school, has won final House passage.

The bill would permit tax equalization multipliers to be applied at the township rather than the county level. The multipliers would be applied by the county boards of review.

However, the bill provides that the Revenue Department may apply the multipliers and equalize assessments where the county boards of review do not do an adequate job.

Social Security Office Open Saturday for Disabled Persons

The Harrisburg social security district office will be open all day Saturday, June 29, in addition to its normal week day schedule. E. Bishop Hill, district manager, said today. Mr. Hill explained that this special Saturday schedule of office hours, from 8:00 a. m. to 5:00 p. m., will enable the office to accept last minute applications from severely disabled people who may be eligible for social security disability protection. This will be the only Saturday that the social security office which serves Southern Illinois will be open for business.

Mr. Hill pointed out that people who have been disabled and unable to work for a long time must benefit or to have their earnings records "frozen." Otherwise, they may, in some cases, lose their rights to disability payments and also their own and their family's rights to old-age and survivors insurance payments.

Any severely disabled person who has worked under social security for at least 5 years and has been disabled for 6 months or more should get in touch with the Harrisburg district office right away. If he is between 50 and 65, he may be eligible for monthly disability payments. If he is under

Provide Assessor Pay
The bill has been amended to provide that any tax increase resulting from increased assessments may not exceed 25 per cent in any one year.

The bill backed by Gov. William G. Stratton, is aimed at school districts which allegedly claim an unfair share of state school aid by making too-low property tax assessments. State aid is distributed on the basis that the state makes up the difference between $200 per pupil and the amount of money raised through local taxes.

A companion bill to the township multiplier provided that the state shall pay half of the salary of each county superintendent of assessments. This bill, also passed by the House, is aimed at encouraging counties to do a better job of assessment.

Bills given final passage in the Senate Wednesday would:

Provide 10 per cent pay increases for state's attorneys in all counties.

Give the state "quick take" power to acquire land for highway purposes whereby the state could take the land and start highway construction while a fair price for the land was being determined in the courts.

Remove the present 200 minutes per week physical education requirement in schools and leave the amount of physical education up to individual school districts.

Prohibit "ambulance chasing" or soliciting of law business involving death, damage or injury. The bill would not apply to lawyers who are covered by bar association ethics, but to persons who might be working for lawyers.

Ridgway Man is Found Dead in Wrecked Auto

Paul Williford Roe, 33, of Ridgway, was found dead in his wrecked automobile early today.

Roe, an oil field worker for the Superior Oil Co., was found dead on Route 1 between Omaha and Norris City by State Policeman Clarence Robinson.

Reports from the Cox funeral home, Ridgway, which went after the body, were that the car, in which Roe was travelling alone, went off the road and down a ravine, striking two trees.

The funeral home announced that funeral plans were incomplete.

Roe leaves his wife, Fay; three children and his mother, Mrs. Annie Roe of Ridgway.

Chas. G. Noel, 64, Former Resident, Dies at Benton

Charles G. Noel, 64, of Benton, died in his home at 4 a. m. today. The body is in the care of the Mitchell funeral home in Benton where it will remain until the time of the funeral which will be at 2 p. m. Saturday. The Rev. Robert Simpson of Benton will officiate and burial will be in the Masonic Odd Fellows cemetery at Benton.

Mr. Noel is survived by his wife, Helen, his three sons, William Noel, Charles Noel Jr., and Harold Noel; his brothers, Earl Noel and Archie Noel of Harrisburg; his sisters, Mrs. Mabel Hancock of Spring Valley community, Mrs. Edith Turner of Tampa, Florida, and Mrs. Mae Rosebrough of Sweetwater, Texas.

The Charles Noel family were residents of Harrisburg until about ten years ago. Mrs. Noel is the former Miss Helen Doolin of Harrisburg, niece of Mrs. J. Arthur Moore.

Mr. Noel's brother, John Noel, preceded him in death in March of last year.

Senate Passes Bill To Exempt Farm Trucks From Splash Guard Law

SPRINGFIELD (UP)—The Senate today passed a bill to exempt farm trucks and various other trucks used largely in off-the-highway work, from the controversial 1955 "contour" splash guard law.

The Senate had knocked out of the bill an amendment it had put on earlier to require, the "contour" splash guards only on trucks put into use after July 1.

The bill was originally sponsored in the House by Rep. Paul Powell (D-Vienna), who also had sponsored the 1955 law.

Not for Present Terms

House Votes Pay Hikes for State Officials; Bishop Under Attack

SPRINGFIELD (UP)—Pay raises of $5,000 a year for the governor, $4,000 for other elected state officials and lesser boosts for top appointive officers today had final House approval.

None of the pay raises can go into effect during the present terms of the persons in office. The bills have the backing of Gov. William G. Stratton.

They would boost the governor from $25,000 to $30,000 a year. The lieutenant governor would go up from $12,000 to $16,000 a year. The secretary of state, attorney general, state auditor, state treasurer and superintendent of public instruction would be raised from $16,000 to $20,000.

Code department directors would get $15,000 instead of $12,000, and their assistants would go up from $8,000 to $12,000.

The adjutant general's salary would be raised from $10,000 to $12,000, the Youth Commission chairman from $10,000 to $13,000, and commissioner members would be raised to $10,000.

The Civil Defense director would go from $10,000 to $12,000, and the director of industrial planning and development from $8,000 to $10,000.

Other bills in the series, on which a final vote was delayed until today would boost the Commerce Commission members from $12,000 to $15,000, Liquor Commission members from $6,000 to $7,000, and the Liquor Commission chairman from $7,000 to $8,000.

The Legislature has previously voted itself a $1,000 a year pay increase.

The only pay raise that came under attack was that for the director of industrial planning and development, a job now held by former Republican Congressman C. W. (Runt) Bishop, Carverville.

Hurricane Audrey Hits Texas, Louisiana Coast

State to Allow Time to Adjust To Speed Limits

SPRINGFIELD (UP)—State Police Chief William H. Morris said today Illinois motorists will be given a "reasonable amount of time" to adjust to the new 65 mile automobile speed limit which goes into effect July 1.

"This does not mean we will allow every passenger car motorist to drive at any speed he chooses but we will allow a slight consideration in judging speeds during this period," Morris said.

However, he said, "we urge everyone to get in the habit of obeying speed limits posted for their protection."

He reminded that "the new Illinois speed limits are absolute and anything in excess of the posted limit is a violation for vehicles in each category regardless of the circumstances."

There won't be any adjustment period for trucks and buses. They "must adjust themselves to the new speed limits immediately or be subject to arrest," Morris said. The new law limits buses to 60 miles an hour, trucks under four tons to 55 miles and trucks over four tons to 50 miles.

Morris directed his district officers to stop automobile motorists exceeding posted limits and issue warning tickets to them during the adjustment period.

SPRINGFIELD (UP)—The House today adopted a conference committee report on judicial reform, thus completing legislative action on the proposal and assuring it will be submitted to the voters in 1958 as a constitutional amendment.

Problem Created by Court

Eisenhower Favors Legislation to Plug Loopholes Opening FBI Files

WASHINGTON (UP)—President Eisenhower indicated today he favors legislation to plug legal "loopholes" created by the recent Supreme Court decision opening FBI files to defendants in certain criminal cases.

Senate Republican Leader William F. Knowland said after a White House meeting that the President recognized there is a "very real problem" for enforcement agencies growing out of the court's decision.

The court ruled June 3 in the so-called Jencks case that defendants in a criminal case have the right to examine FBI reports provided by informers who are used as government witnesses in the trial. Some trial judges have interpreted this to mean that the government should produce all FBI reports that may be pertinent.

Bills have been introduced in both the Senate and House to limit the effect of the court's decision.

Generally, they provide that FBI documents would be produced only at the discretion of the trial judge. Eisenhower's attitude on pending legislation was set forth at a time when the FBI made clear that it would drop out of prosecution of some spy and other criminal cases if such a drastic step is necessary to protect its confidential sources.

Knowland said that Atty. Gen. Herbert Brownell Jr. who sat in on the White House meeting, indicated that he feels the "approach" of the pending bills in both houses is "constructive" and would "remedy some of the problems."

Informed sources said both FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover and Brownell are standing firmly behind a traditional policy that FBI reports and sources of information must not be compromised. Otherwise, they feel, the agency's effectiveness may be impaired.

Col. Nickerson Charges 'Gross' Over-Emphasis on Air Power

HUNTSVILLE, Ala. (UP)—Col. John C. Nickerson Jr. testified today that "gross" over-emphasis on air power exists in the Defense Department.

Reliance on air power alone, the Army missile officer testified at his court-martial, might lay the United States open to "total defeat" if Soviet armies overran most of the free world.

Nickerson was testifying in his own defense in an effort to mitigate his sentence for admitted negligent handling of secret documents and sending classified memos to various outside persons. But Nickerson almost immediately launched a blistering attack on the air power philosophy of defense which he said has been "glamorized and publicized" by every member of the Air Force.

Nickerson himself had opened a bitter inter-service fight over control of ballistic missiles when he protested Secretary of Defense Charles E. Wilson's decision to turn such weapons in the intermediate range to the Air Force.

The Two Theories
Nickerson, champion of the Army's Jupiter intermediate missile which he helped develop, admitted he used secret data to get across his case. He awaits sentencing on 15 counts, a sentence to be determined by the 10-member court-martial after the defense completes its testimony.

Nickerson said the Air Force decision to build intercontinental ballistic missiles—ocean-spanning weapons in contrast to the 1,500-mile Jupiter—was the proper one because the ICBM is a "strategic" weapon.

Then Nickerson began reading a prepared statement on the "two opposing theories of the most effective method of effectively waging modern warfare."

"The first is the theory that by atomic bombardment there will be little use for armies and they probably will be unnecessary," Nickerson said.

"Air Force officers accept, glorify and publicize this incessantly," he said. "The Department of Defense has been sold on it for more than justified by the proven facts."

He later called this a "gross" over-emphasis within the department.

He said the other theory called for atomic bombardment of enemy targets, then quick assault and holding action by ground forces in accordance with proven concept of warfare.

Army Claim "Valid"
Speaking loudly and rapidly, the square-jawed 41-year-old colonel said that Soviet armies were constantly poised at the borders of free countries in the Near East, Europe and Asia with at least six months supplies. No amount of atomic bombardment could prevent some of these armies from overrunning these countries and ground forces should be strengthened to meet them, he said.

But under the present policy of cutting down manpower on the ground, both in this country and among our Allies, Nickerson said, our foreign bases would be overrun, resources lost and the prospects of "total defeat" would be present.

"It is foolish for any service to claim that it is the front line," Nickerson said. "The Army just wants to say that its claim for enough men, weapons and troops is just as valid as that of any other service."

Inland Cities Hit With 100- Mile-Hour Winds

Four to Six Inch Rains Accompany Storm

PORT ARTHUR, Tex. (UP)—An unseasonable and vicious hurricane which already had killed 10 men, swept across the Texas-Louisiana coast today and beat inland cities with winds of 100 miles an hour.

The wind, torrential rain and crashing waves of Hurricane Audrey isolated whole towns. Electrical power was knocked off in Port Arthur and Beaumont, Tex., and in Lake Charles, La.

Terrified residents—50,000 in Port Arthur alone by one estimate—fled their homes. Some took refuge in schools, churches and steel-framed buildings. Others fled pell-mell in their automobiles to sectors out of the tempest's path.

Raging seas more than 200 miles down the Texas coast swept four vessels, including the 400-foot Sinclair Co. tanker S. S. Sheldon Clark, aground in Aransas Bay. The other vessels were two barges and a tug. The crews apparently were safe.

The New Orleans Weather Bureau said the center of Audrey was about halfway between Beaumont and Lake Charles—that is along the border between the states—and moving northward about 15 miles an hour.

Nine on Ship Drown
"Lake Charles, La., and Orange, Tex., reported winds of 100 miles per hour," the advisory said. "Winds of 75 miles or better are expected to continue near the center the rest of the day as it moves northward along the Texas-Louisiana border, accompanied by four to eight-inch rains."

The hurricane's victims were all drowned.

As Audrey raged toward shore, it hurled a two-masted fishing vessel, the Keturah, into an oil rig near Galveston. The Keturah went down with all nine crewmen on board. Another man was drowned last night off the Texas coast.

All except two families fled the little town of Sabine, Tex.—five stores and a population of 260—south of Port Arthur. The two families, who lived south of the Keith Lake bridge, were cut off and officials were trying to get them out.

One Town Isolated

It was feared that conditions might be critical at Cameron, La., which was isolated hours before the center of the storm hit.

The Coast Guard rushed life boats to Cameron to take out all whose lives are endangered. Larry Stephenson, civil defense director for Calcasieu Parish, La., called the situation at Cameron "an extreme emergency."

He said Coast Guardsmen were attempting rescue operations in waters lashed by 50-mile an hour winds. The worst was yet to come.

Stephenson asked for more tents, blankets, amphibious vehicles and medical supplies for Lake Charles and Sulphur, La., which were expected to be isolated when Audrey smacked deeper inland.

Audrey's path included some of the richest manufacturing area along the Louisiana-Texas coast. The area is filled with refineries, chemical plants, and shipyards.

More than 100 ships from World War II are moth-balled at Orange, Tex.

The Weather Bureau said that rains from Audrey probably will push as far north, and east as western Tennessee and Kentucky and as far west as southeast Oklahoma.

The WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND by DREW PEARSON

DREW PEARSON Says:
Newsmen Face Alternative Of Jail Or Trouble At The Pentagon; Guided Missile Controversy Illustrates Newsmen's Dilemma; Battle Of Tycoons
Is Behind Colonel Nickerson Court Martial.

WASHINGTON. — Ike's commission on government security has now recommended that a newsmen who publishes secret data shall be jailed for five years and fined $5,000. Yet last winter when this writer voluntarily asked the Defense Department which portions of a guided missile memo could or could not be published without risk to the nation, the document was confiscated.

The incident helped to touch off the current court-martial of Col. John Nickerson at Huntsville, Ala., a very fine officer whom I had never met and who was not the source of the secret memo.
This is why my junior partner Jack Anderson, has been called to Huntsville to testify.

The incident also illustrates how a newsmen is between the devil and the deep blue sea. If he doesn't consult the Pentagon, he may under the new Ike-commission rules, go to jail. If he does consult the Pentagon, his information is confiscated and a possible source of that information court-martialed.

A newspaperman has a moral obligation to keep the public informed. He especially has an obligation to inform the public regarding a weapon vital to the defense of the nation which appears to be the object of a battle by big business.

The public has a right to know,
for instance, when Secretary Wilson's former company, General Motors, together with Douglas Aircraft and Bell Telephone want to control guided missile production through the Air Force; while Chrysler, rival of G. M., and Minneapolis Honeywell favor the Army's side.

AGAINST GOVERNMENT PRODUCTION

With the possibility that airplanes may fade out as weapons in favor of guided missiles, the combine that controls guided missiles will dominate defense production in the future. This is something that should not be a military secret.

According to Colonel Nickerson, in his secret memo:

"The aircraft industry, and particularly the Douglas Aircraft Co., openly oppose the development of any missile by a government agency. High officials of the Douglas company have stated that Douglas is paying particular attention to the possibility of killing off the operation at Huntsville, Ala."

It was last November 26 that Secretary of Defense Wilson sided with Douglas Aircraft, the Air Force, and his own former company, to rule that the Army at Huntsville must quit producing the medium range ballistic missile. This put Chrysler and Minneapolis Honeywell, plus the Army, out of virtually all missile work and concentrated it with the Air Force and friends: Douglas
A. C. Sparkplug Division of General Motors, and Bell Telephone Deputy Secretary of Defense Donald Quarles is a former official of a Bell Telephone subsidiary.

Thus the battle over guided missiles is not just old school tie football rivalry between the Army, Navy, and Air Force, but a battle between big business for the control of the future weapons of the nation.

ANOTHER COPY OF MEMO

After the original copy of the Nickerson memo was confiscated by the Pentagon, a second copy was obtained from sources which must remain nameless. To illustrate some of the things the public has a right to know about, there follow some of Colonel Nickerson's conclusions:

"The Wilson memorandum (banning the Army from intermediate ballistic missile production) is a broad denial to the Army of essential tools for modern warfare. The Army must be kept modern by application of modern technology to weapons.
This is particularly important because of the numerical inferiority of the U. S. Army to the Soviet army.

"The Wilson memorandum is solely an expression of Air Force views backed up by Admiral Radford, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff. The Secretary of the Army, the Army chief of staff, the assistant to the Secretary of Defense for guided missiles, and the assistant secretary of defense for research and development all hold strongly to the view that the Army has an urgent requirement for the IRBM (intermediate range ballistic missile).

"The Secretary of the U. S. Air Force has recently recommended in writing the discontinuance of the IRBM No. 2 (Jupiter) program at Huntsville, Alabama. The present Secretary of the U. S. Air Force, Mr. Donald Quarles, is one of the leading contenders for Secretary of Defense. (Since the memo was written, Quarles has become deputy secretary of defense.)

"The Douglas Aircraft-Bell Telephone laboratory is urgently needed to develop a defense against the Soviet ICBM's. (Intercontinental ballistic missile traveling 5,000 miles.) The Army IRBM (intermediate range traveling 1,500 miles) is not versed in anti-aircraft missiles. Douglas is not experienced in ballistic missiles. It is poor management to discontinue development of IRBM by an experienced team and take the experienced anti-aircraft team needed for the anti-ICBM development and put it on the development of an IRBM. This action is even worse because the anti-aircraft team is not experienced in ballistic missiles.

"Discontinuance of Jupiter (Army IRBM) means an ever greater over-concentration of key defense development programs in the Douglas-Bell combine.

"Discontinuance of Jupiter favors commercially the A. C. Sparkplug Division of General Motors Corporation."

The Nickerson memo is long and technical. Some portions have been omitted because of involved technicalities, some because publication might be detrimental to the national security.
However, the above illustrates the predicament a newsmen faces regarding the alternative of cooperating with the Defense Department or facing a jail term — as now proposed by the Ike commission on government security.

Granddaughter of Howard Travelsteads Weds at Evansville

Miss Raenell Brown, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Brown of Evansville, Ind., and Charles Edward Perry, son of Mr. and Mrs. Garland F. Perry, also of Evansville, were married at the Grace Baptist church in that city Sunday, June 23, at 2:30 o'clock.

Rev. Stephen H. Cobb officiated at the double-ring ceremony, performed before an altar decorated with palms and baskets of gladioli, flanked by two eight-branched candelabra.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of imported French Chantilly lace and nylon tulle over bridal satin. The neckline was fashioned with a Mandarin collar decorated with seed pearls, and the long close-fitting sleeves ended in points over her wrists. The voluminous skirt, with inserts of lace, extended into a cathedral train. The finger-tip veil of illusion, edged in deep lace, cascaded over her long dark hair from a tiara of pearls and orange blossoms. She carried a bouquet of white feathered carnations surrounding a white orchid. Her only jewelry was a strand of pearls, a gift of the bridegroom.

Miss Carol Sue Brown, the bride's sister, was maid of honor. Her pink waltz-length gown of nylon net and lace was underlined with taffeta. She wore a matching brim hat and carried a colonial bouquet of pink and white carnations.

Mary Schwartz and Barbara Travelstead, both of Harrisburg, and Sharon Irich of Evansville were bridesmaids. Their gowns styled similarly to that of the maid of honor, were in colors of aqua, orchid, and powder blue. They wore brim hats of matching net and carried nosegays of pink and white roses.

Carolyn Ruth Mitchell, the flower girl, wore a dress of pink nylon net and lace over taffeta with a wide taffeta sash.

Miss Martha Fitch, organist, played nuptial airs preceding the ceremony and accompanied Mrs. Roy E. Givens who sang "Because," "Whither Thou Goest," and "The Lord's Prayer."

Michael Howell was best man, and the groomsmen were Kenneth Julian, Ted Hawkins, and Thomas Henisen. They and the ushers, Raymond Cobb and Thomas Hughes, were all of Evansville. Michael Richardson was ring-bearer.

Mrs. Brown chose a pink voile dress for her daughter's wedding, and this she complemented with white accessories and a corsage of white carnations.

Mrs. Perry, in a powder blue dacon dress with white accessories, also wore a corsage of white carnations.

Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held in the church social room. Later, the couple left for a southern honeymoon trip. Upon their return, Mr. and Mrs. Perry will reside in Evansville.

Out of town guests included Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Miller, Mrs. Hugh Travelstead, Mrs. Herman Schwartz, and Mr. and Mrs. Sam Travelstead, all of Harrisburg.

The bride is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Travelstead of Harrisburg.

Robert Vogeler, Ex-Prisoner in Hungary Now Broke

MOUNT KISCO, N. Y. (AP) — Robert A. Vogeler, who was imprisoned in Hungary as a spy from 1949 to 1951, is now broke, starting a new business on a shoe-string and in danger of losing his $65,000 home, his wife said today.

Vogeler, a vice president of the International Telephone and Telegraph Co. in Hungary, returned to his $15,000 job here after his diplomatic ransom. But he left it in 1952 and later sued IT&T for half a million dollars. The suit was settled for $50,000.

Since that time, Mrs. Vogeler said, neither her husband, a graduate engineer, nor herself has been able to get a job. Both have lectured on communism, but she said half those appearances have been unpaid.

"He has never been able to get a job," Mrs. Vogeler said. "They tell him he is a 'controversial figure'."

Motorist Gets Lucky When Wheel Comes Off

ROCHESTER, N. Y. — (AP) — Considering what happened, Francis Hillen was a lucky motorist. Hillen was driving his 1955 model automobile down a Rochester street when the left front wheel suddenly "came off." The odds were that the front end would collapse and probably an accident result. Instead, the wheel rolled beneath the car and brought the machine to an abrupt halt. Hillen and his pregnant wife were shaken by the experience, but unhurt.

Mrs. Opal Catlin to Leave for Alaska as Director of Nurses

Mrs. Opal Catlin, R.N., will leave Harrisburg Friday to fly to Nome, Alaska, where she will be director of nurses at the Menard McDougal Memorial hospital. Mrs. Catlin served in this capacity in 1954 for a period, relieving Miss Hansen, director of nurses.

Nome is at the end of the Seward peninsula, closest point to Siberia, and the temper ture in the winter time varies between 40 and 60 degrees below zero. In the summer a 70 degree lay is unusual, so the climate is indicative of its position, just below the arctic circle and just east of the international date line.

Menard McDougal Memorial hospital is named for its pioneer founder and is a 50-bed hospital operated by the women's division of the Methodist church, the W. S. C. S. The regular staff consists of a doctor and eight registered nurses.

Mrs. Catlin hopes to help build toward the education of the people of the territory, to a greater knowledge and understanding of medicine. The doctor maintains his office in the hospital and serves a vast territory, frequently having to use air travel to reach his patients. There is no school for nurses and the young women of the territory serve in the hospital, only in the capacity of maids.

Mrs. Catlin with true pioneer spirit, compares this territorial hospital experience with that of a few years ago when she went to Hawaii and served for a time as the director of nursing for the government of American Samoa. The Pacific islands have been a part of the U. S. program of education and advancement for a longer period than the territory of Alaska, and the hospital where she was director of nurses in Samoa was much larger, a 250-bed hospital, and had a training school for Samoan nurses, giving a four year course and graduating about 25 nurses a year. There is also a leprosarium and five clinics on outlying islands, so that the education of the people goes forward in the field of medicine, steadily.

Mrs. Catlin left the islands due to an accident which resulted in a spine injury. She says that she was glad to travel 8,000 miles to get back to Harrisburg to place herself in the care of the doctors here who are not only her friends, but who, she feels, are the most competent and the most cooperative doctors to be found anywhere. She had long weeks of convalescence, and months of nursing in Harrisburg, but is now ready to continue "pioneering." For several years she served as city schools nurse.

Mrs. Opal Catlin

Mrs. Catlin has made Harrisburg her home since 1939 and served on the nursing staff of the Lightner hospital in recent years, as supervisor of nurses. She has in the truest sense, served her community.

Mrs. Catlin is the mother of two sons, Tom Wiedemann, a photographic journalist, living in New York City, and Jack Wiedemann, a production director on Channel 6, TV, Chattanooga, Tenn. She says that she can see her sons about as often when she is working in the territories as when she is in the States, since her visits are limited to her vacations each year, in any case.

Boys' Clubs Honor Kiwanis for Support of Youth

ATLANTIC CITY—Joseph Meany Jr., ship's boy on the Mayflower II, and John M. Gleason, National director, Boy's Clubs of America, flew to Atlantic City this week to present a scroll of appreciation to Kiwanis International for its "outstanding support and assistance given member Boys' Clubs throughout the nation."

Reed Culp, president of Kiwanis International, accepted the scroll before thousands of delegates from all over the world in assemblage at their 42nd annual convention at Convention Hall.

The scroll is signed by former President Herbert Hoover, chairman of the board of the national youth organization which has nearly half a million members in its 400 clubs throughout the country.

In making the presentation Mr. Gleason pointed out that: "In 1956 Kiwanis International, at national and local levels, led all other national organizations in helping to advance the Boys' Club movement. Through the cooperation of Kiwanis International and the thousands of individual Kiwanis clubs in the United States, hundreds of thousands of boys daily receive the

A camera is a peculiar gadget. This summer thousands of people will carry these picture-making machines all over the world. Millions of pictures will be snapped. Some will be too light. Others will be too dark. Still others will have fuzzy outlines of indistinct objects.

The vast majority of the snapshots taken will capture scenes and actions from the present, and will preserve memories for the future.

ture. As we view these pictures we shall observe details which we missed when we looked at the scene itself. We shall not believe that some of the pictures are accurate in their images. Yet we know that the camera records exactly what appears before it.

Poor pictures result from human error. The pictures of you and me which God views are accurate.

He does not see us as distorted souls unless we are that way. We must adjust our lives to God's will so that the pictures which are made of us reflect God's presence instead of human error.

State Medical Society Follows AMA Ruling in Feud with UMW

By ART UNDERWOOD

United Press Staff Correspondent

CHICAGO (U.P.)—A spokesman for the Illinois Medical Society said today it had no special advice for the Perry County Medical Society in the smouldering war between the United Mine Workers and the doctors.

The spokesman said the ISMS and the Perry County society were both bound by a recent American Medical Assn. resolution which prevents members from accepting UMW welfare fund cases until the union recognizes "the sacred doctor-patient relationship."

The resolution does not mention the UMW as the villain but discussion on the resolution made it clear the action was aimed at the miners.

The action resulted from continued efforts on the part of UMW officials in Colorado, Illinois and Pennsylvania to get local medical societies to fix standard fees. The local medical societies in general reported "no outward evidence" of pressure for "kick backs" on the part of fund administrators but called the fee requests "a step down the road to socialism."

A Variety of Fees

Some doctors said they were told if they did not go along with requests of local fund administrators "the union would take its business elsewhere."

In southern Illinois there were scattered reports of such attempts at "professional boycotting" according to AMA spokesmen.

In Colorado, a state medical society spokesman said, "It's an old, old story and this resolution isn't the answer either."

The miners claim they have faced with "a great variety of fees in cases which are basically the same."

Fund administrators have charged some doctors with "upping the ante when they know the money is going to come from the union."

When questioned on the AMA resolution, a union official said, "We aren't worried. We have some friends in the medical profession who will continue to take our cases on a basis agreeable to everybody concerned."

Doctors in Middle

An AMA spokesman said any member violating the resolution would be "subjected to action by the House of Delegates" at a future AMA meeting.

The Perry County society is one of the small groups of doctors apparently caught in the side since most of the area practice involves miners and their families.

The AMA went on record as being willing to treat all miner workers "as individuals" but "not parts of a machine."

Scattered reports from large mining areas indicated many doctors were continuing to accept UMW checks for treating welfare fund cases.

There have also been reports of dissent in miners locals. In one case local members at Du Quoin, Ill., told at gun point by a national UMW fund administrator that they would abide by national rulings in the matter "or else."

Many doctors have complained of abuses in administration of miner welfare fund money but when pressed on the subject were reluctant to discuss it.

One doctor, in a small southern Illinois coal mining community, said bluntly, "It's a rotten situation but 90 per cent of the men in my area work in the mines. What can I do?"

Stratton Heads Governor Group

WILLIAMSBURG, Va. (UP)—Gov. William G. Stratton of Illinois invited fellow-governors today to nominate members of a committee to confer with the Eisenhower administration on ways to increase the powers of the states.

Stratton, a Republican and newly elected chairman of the National Governors' Conference, was authorized by the conference Wednesday to name the committee to follow up a proposal by President Eisenhower in a speech here Monday. The 1957 meeting of the conference adjourned Wednesday.

The Eisenhower plan was expected to figure in discussions at a White House lunch in Washington today to which the 19 Republican governors at the conference were invited.

Eisenhower proposed that the governors and his administration set up a joint task force to study how to return some federal functions and tax sources to the states.

The proposal was greeted by considerable skepticism among the governors. Some, however, felt the effort might be worthwhile if it merely arrested the trend toward greater exercise of federal power.

Senate Passes Bill to Provide Postal Funds

Measure Sent to White House; Full Service Assured

WASHINGTON (UP)—The nation was assured today of full postal service for the year beginning July 1.

The Senate passed and sent to the White House today a supplemental Post Office Department money bill providing an extra 133 million dollars for next fiscal year.

Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield had warned of new cuts in postal services and the shutdown of possibly thousands of local post offices unless Congress provided him more funds to run his department.

Summerfield had asked an additional $149,500,000. But the Senate, in approving the bill Wednesday, went along with House cuts of $16,500,000.

However, Chairman Carl Hayden (D-Ariz.) of the Senate Appropriations Committee assured his colleagues that the reduction would not mean any curtailment of daily rural mail deliveries or suspension of Saturday service in cities and towns.

Sen. Paul H. Douglas (D-Ill.), voting against the bill, accused Summerfield of trying to intimidate Congress with threats instead of seeking to save money by modernizing the mail service.

President Eisenhower, who had backed Summerfield in his fight to obtain extra funds, was almost certain to sign the measure.

The postmaster general had curtailed postal services briefly earlier this year when Congress refused to grant him extra funds to tide his department over the fiscal year ending June 30.

On another matter, Summerfield told the House Post Office Committee Wednesday he and Eisenhower would give "careful consideration" to any postal pay raise recommended by the group.

The administration, which opposes pay hikes for postal and other federal workers as inflationary, has centered its fire on a bill to increase postal pay by about 40 per cent at an estimated cost of a billion dollars.

Postal Pay Boost Voted by House Committee

By United Press

The House Post Office Committee ignored the objections of President Eisenhower today and voted to raise the pay of 518,000 postal workers by 320 million dollars a year.

The vote, taken behind closed doors, was reported by committee members later to have been 20-3.

The pay raise bill, if finally enacted, would provide increases ranging up to $546 a year.

Only a few days ago, Eisenhower had opposed a pay hike for postal workers this year. Administration leaders said it would only lead to demands for increases by other government workers and upset efforts to hold down government spending.

But the committee agreed today to meet next Tuesday to consider raises for other federal workers.

Eisenhower said raises for all classified workers would be inflationary.

Floyd Kennedy, administrator of the estate of Ethel Kennedy who was killed in an auto crash outside of Harrisburg on July 16, 1956, has named Millard Holloway and the Gallatin County Board of Supervisors defendants in a $20,000 damage suit.

The fatal mishap occurred on Route 45 at the Barnett street intersection when the county car, driven by Sheriff Holloway, and the 1950 Oldsmobile driven by Mrs. Kennedy collided. Sheriff and Mrs. Holloway and Deputy Jim Fox were returning from taking a patient to the Anna State Hospital. The sheriff stated that he was approaching the Barnett street intersection south of Harrisburg when the car driven by Mrs. Kennedy pulled out in front of them from the left without making a stop.

Mrs. Holloway suffered a broken left arm, a severe laceration of the left scalp and painful bruises about the chest. The sheriff was treated for minor injuries. Fox was not injured.

Other survivors are her daughters, Mrs. Bakle Kennedy, Cottage Hills, and Mrs. Veda Ducommun of Godfrey; and her sons, Roy Leathers, Troy Leathers and Robert Leathers of Grayville, Virgil Leathers of Alton and Amos Leathers of San Diego, Calif. Sisters surviving are Mrs. Ella McQuay of Grayville and Mrs. Minnie Cook of Galatia.

Five Entombed Miners Rescued

BLOOMINGDALE, Ohio (UP)—Five coal miners entombed for 14 hours by a cave-in were rescued Wednesday night through a shaft bored by a tremendous mine-digging machine.

It was believed the first time the machine, a giant auger developed to make coal mining more economical, ever was used in a rescue attempt.

The bit of the auger, 3 1/2 feet thick, and capable of boring 120 feet an hour, pierced 240 feet into the side of a Powhatan Coal Co. strip mine near here and hit "dead center" in a low chamber where the miners were trapped.

The men crawled to safety through the hole, the third bored by the auger in the rescue effort.

Report Princess Grace Expecting

MONACO — Official sources said today Princess Grace is expecting a second child.

Reports that the former movie actress was pregnant originated in Rome when it was disclosed Prince Rainier censored photographs of the princess taken in profile and emphasizing her maternity-like clothes.

Official sources in Monaco then confirmed that Grace was expecting another child. The first, Princess Caroline, was born last January.

The tell-tale photographs were taken aboard the U. S. Navy Carrier Forrester earlier this month.

SUBSTITUTE DOCTOR

© 1957 by Elizabeth Seifert.
Distributed by NEA Service.

By ELIZABETH SEIFERT

THE STORY: More and more Dr. Garde Shelton is beginning to feel that he is only a "substitute" for Dr. Kurt Lillard, whom he has replaced at the Bayard clinic. Dr. Lillard was convicted on circumstantial evidence of a murder which many people believe he did not commit. Garde is continually reminded of how Kurt would have done things and now he has been asked to escort Kurt's fiancée to a party.

XII
Nan was ready and looking very pretty in a thin dress of pink and white stuff; a huge rose was pinned at her waist, white beads were at her throat, with another row of them across the crown of her head. "I feel one just has to wear pink to go to Genevieve's," she told Garde gaily as they walked along the street.

A dozen fine cars were lined in the Copeland drive, and the brrr of voices reached Nan and Garde before they reached the front door. "Will you go through to the terrace?" murmured the maid.

"What?" happen if we don't?" said Nan in Garde's ear.

"You don't get any food," he assured her.

"Heavens, don't let that happen here!"

A buffet table was set up there.

and the guests were all gathered out on the terrace. Genevieve and Howard came forward to greet them; glasses were thrust into their hands, and the Copeland daughter, Patty, was introduced to the new doctor.

Also, three grandchildren were pointed out as possible future patients.

Garde looked thoughtfully after this slender, smart-looking daughter of the Copelands. Mother of four small children, she might have served as a model for any artist doing a picture of smart sophistication. Well—as Garde knew—big families were the fashion among today's young people.

All four of the clinic doctors were guests, Ruble wearing the Bermuda shorts which Garde's mother had noticed. He looked very well in them, too, as he sat with Tom Sandoxie upon the low, ivy-grown wall which enclosed the terrace.

When dinner was announced, Garde went to Nan's side.

"You mean," Bill Marquardt demanded of her, "that you had to have an escort to walk you 200 yards?"

Nan laid her fingertips on Garde's arm. "I know, Bill," she said earnestly, "but what girl wouldn't? Look at him! I wouldn't trade him for Gregory Peck!"

Banter went back and forth across the terrace, stories were told, laughter was loud, and Garde listened to Nan's gaiety and watched her reckless gestures, puzzled, surprised and even a little shocked. It was not what he had set down as Nan Stanfield's line.

"I understand," Nan continued, "that the dimple in a man's tie is an absolute test of him as a gentleman."

Garde ate a spear of asparagus, touched his pink-checked napkin to his lips and picked up his coffee cup. "I hate to disillusion you, my dear," he said, quite as seriously as she, "but there are gadgets to insure the dimple."

"I think it only fair to warn you that, modern inventions being what they are," Garde continued, "it wouldn't be safe for you to count on a man's breeding and taste because his tie shows the proper dimple."

Frank and Virginia exchanged delighted glances, but Nan looked oddly at Garde. "You wouldn't spoof me, would you, doctor?"

"Oh, absolutely not. This is the age of plastics. One can trust nothing. Synthetic tie dimples, synthetic medicines—synthetic love, no doubt."

He broke off perforce against the sudden roar and whoop of the town's fire siren. A great clanging immediately set up, and the cocker spaniel lifted his nose in a howl of agony.

Garde had heard the village fire alarm before and had marveled at its volume. Tonight the need for its noise was explained, because half of the men at the party immediately were on their feet, running down the steps to the drive and getting into several cars which whooshed off town town.

"They're volunteers," Nan explained to Garde. "Fire department volunteers, you know."

He was standing. "Should I go too?"

"You'll be asked to join the volunteers, I expect."

He flushed. "Oh, it's a frat. I'm sorry."

"There's no need to be sorry," Nan said to him. "The volunteers are chosen—because of course they want a list of dependable men. I'm sure you'll be asked." She looked up, a shy smile of liking for him curving her lips.

Garde leaned toward her. This was more the Nan he'd thought she was, her quiet prettiness in direct contrast to the feverish gaiety which she'd displayed earlier in the evening.

He took out cigarettes and gave her one, struck a match. In its light, her face came toward him out of the shadows, their two hands, her glowing eyes and lips.

"Why?" his deep voice asked.

She lifted her head. "Why—what?"

"Why do you put on that act?"

The gay, the brash, the bold. It doesn't seem your style."

Her hands flew out in a gesture of surrender. "I don't have much choice," she told him. "I don't want people being sorry for me. I think young widows must have to put up the same sort of defense against constant pity. They too perhaps go to the far extreme..."

To Visit In England

Miss Faye F. Winterberger has resigned her teaching position at the grade school in Shawneetown, having taught there for the past 12 years. Miss Winterberger has also taught at Byrd school, near the site of New Shawneetown, Junction school, Clover Glenn and Hickory Hill near Equality.

Miss Faye, as she is known to the many she taught, is to leave July 10 for a year in England where she will be a guest of her nephew and family, Capt. Charles L. Winterberger.

While there she plans to visit in France, from where her grandparents on her father's side came to the United States 102 years ago. It took her forefathers six weeks to cross the Atlantic, while she will be crossing by plane in 16 hours time.

On Sunday, June 30, there will be a "Going away" given in her honor by friends and members of the Young Adult Sunday School Class of which she is the teacher. Open house will be held in the basement of the General Baptist Church of Junction from 2:00 to 6:00 p. m. Everyone is invited.

Congress Explodes in Debate on Court Rulings; FBI to Protect Secret Files

WASHINGTON (UP) — The Supreme Court was attacked today as an "aid and comfort" to Communism and defended as a co-equal branch of the government doing its part in safeguarding individual liberties.

The mounting controversy over recent court rulings brought with it new warnings of threats to law enforcement.

The FBI was reported ready to withdraw from prosecutions of espionage and certain other criminal cases if necessary to protect the secrecy of its files. The Justice Department urged laws to safeguard FBI files, and to establish new police procedures to prevent breakdown of prosecutions against hardened criminals.

Senate Debates On Court

The Senate exploded in debate on the court Wednesday. Views ranged from that of Sen. Strom Thurmond (D-S.C.) who charged the tribunal had "gone power wild," to Sen. Alexander Wiley (R-Wis.) who pleaded against "abuse of the highest tribunal of our land."

Rep. Donald L. Jackson (R-Calif.), in a speech prepared for House delivery today, denounced the high court's current course as "lending aid, comfort and assistance" to the Communist "enemy."

Asserting that June 17, when two of the most disputed court rulings were issued, might be celebrated by Communists henceforth as a "red letter day," Jackson said Congress should protect its committees by special legislation or abolish them.

Jackson, a member of the committee on un-American activities, found himself sharply at variance with committee Chairman Francis E. Walter (D-Pa.).

Walter said Wednesday no new legislation is required to meet the Supreme Court's edict in the Watkins case, one of those delivered June 17. That decision said witnesses can refuse to answer committee questions unless the purpose of the inquiry is given and the relevancy of the questions shown.

Walter said recent San Francisco hearings of an un-American activities subcommittee showed the court's ruling could be followed without difficulty.

Boyd Wins Split Decision Over Rocky Castellani

CHICAGO — Rocky Castellani had no apology for defeat today because he fought Bobby Boyd for 10 rounds and "put on a good show for the television fans."

Boyd, the 8-5 favorite, was hard pressed all the way to win a split decision, and when his arm was raised most of the 1,772 fans booed lustily. Actually Castellani had more points credited to him than Boyd.

Referee Bennie Weissman scored it 47-45 for Boyd and Judge Frank Clark had it 47-46 for the winner, the same margin as the United Press Card. Judge James McManus gave Castellani a four-point bulge, 47-43.

Castellani weighed 160 1-2 to 160 pounds for Boyd.

Cardinals Maintain Lead in 11-3 Loss to Phillies as Giants Clobber Reds, 17-7

By United Press

The team that eventually comes out on top in the chaotic National League struggle probably will go into the World Series with the lowest pennant-winning victory total in major league history.

A mere 10 percentage points separated the first four clubs today, with the St. Louis Cardinals maintaining a four-point lead over the second-place Cincinnati Redlegs after both were beaten Wednesday night.

The race tightened up to an almost incredible degree Wednesday night when the Philadelphia Phillies walloped the Cardinals, 11-3, the New York Giants clobbered the Redlegs, 17-7, and the Milwaukee Braves drubbed the Brooklyn Dodgers, 13-9. The Pittsburgh Pirates routed the Chicago Cubs, 15-5, before the teams played an 11-inning, 5-5 tie halted by darkness.

The Chicago White Sox retained their half-game margin in the "runaway" American League race when they outlasted the Boston Red Sox, 7-5, and the second-place New York Yankees beat the Cleveland Indians, 3-1. The Baltimore Orioles defeated the Kansas City Athletics, 1-0, for their third straight shutout and the Detroit Tigers downed the Washington Senators, 4-1.

Simmons Beats McDaniel

The Phillies unleashed a 16-hit attack that included four hits by Chico Fernandez and a homer by Harry Anderson to hand the Cardinals their third straight defeat in four games. Curt Simmons pitched a steady nine — hitter to win his seventh game while Lindy McDaniel suffered his fourth loss.

The sixth — place Giants buried the Redlegs with a 20 — hit bombardment that saw Bobby Thomson drive in five runs with a homer, double and two singles and Willie Mays knock in four with two doubles and a triple. Johnny Klippstein suffered his seventh defeat.

The Braves overcame a 9-4 deficit with three runs in the fifth inning and six in the eighth to snap a two — game losing streak. Hank Aaron, Eddie Mathews and Wes Covington tied a major league record by hitting successive homers in the fifth inning of a game marked by eight round-trippers. Mathews topped the Braves' best attack of the year, driving in five runs with a pair of homers and a single as Gene Conley picked up his first win for

Treasure Hunt at Golf Course Saturday Night

The Egyptian Golf Association will hold a treasure hunt at the golf course Saturday night beginning at 7:30.

It was also announced today that junior high, high school or college students may play golf by paying the green fee of $1 whether their parents are members of the association or not.

Milwaukee and Clem Labine suffered his fourth straight loss for Brooklyn.

Dee Fondy and Roman Mejias had four hits each and Frank Thomas drove in four runs in Pittsburgh's 19-hit opening-game attack that gave Vern Law his fourth win. The Cubs tied the nightcap when a walk, Bobby Morgan's triple and Jim Bolger's single produced two runs in the ninth.

Wiffi Smith is Favored to Win Women's Open

MAMARONECK, N. Y. — A field of 32 professionals and 65 amateurs tees off today in the first round of the U. S. Women's Open golf championship with chubby Wiffi Smith, who has been playing the game for money only since January, rated as the one to beat.

Although six former champions are in the group, including defending titleholder Kathy Cornelius, the 20-year-old freckle — faced links star from St. Clair, Mich., was the choice of the tournament-toughened veterans. This despite the fact that she has won only one tournament since she turned professional last January, after winning the British and French Amateur championships.

That victory came in the Dallas tournament on the Ladies PGA winter tour. But they regard Miss Smith as one of the longest hitters in golf, a superb iron player and potentially a fine putter. And those are the three things it takes to play the par 37-73, 6,246-yard east course at Winged Foot. She was picked over Patty Berg, who won the first Women's Open 11 years ago; Mrs. Cornelius, who said she "has been playing badly;" Fay Crocker of Uruguay, one of the three foreign threats in the field, and Betty Jameson, PGA champion Louise Suggs and Betsy Rawls, the former champions in the field.

The 35-year-old Miss Crocker; Mrs. Marlene Bauer Hage, winner of eight tournaments last year and the leading money winner on the tournament trail this season; the 39-year-old Miss Berg and Miss Suggs were among the other favorites.

Soviet Subs Sent To Egypt Have A-Capabilities

ABOARD THE U. S. S. SALEM in the Mediterranean — At least two of the three submarines sold by Russia to Egypt have "atomic capabilities," U. S. Chief of Naval Operations Arleigh Burke said today.

Burke said two of the subs delivered recently to Alexandria by the Russians "have far more range capacity" than would be needed for patrolling the Gulf of Aqaba or the approaches to the Suez Canal.

Burke said he "doubted" that atomic warheads came along with the submarines. But he said the two big "W" class subs transferred to Egypt were "plenty big enough" to carry atomic missile launching equipment.
